How the Roomba 115X Combo models and Shark AI Ultra compare in 2026

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop with AutoEmpty Dock

As of October 05, 2026, three premium robot-vacuum-mop combos dominate the mid-to-high end market: the iRobot Roomba 115X Combo with AutoEmpty Dock, the iRobot Roomba 115X Combo (base model), and the Shark AI Ultra Robot Vacuum. All promise strong suction, smart navigation, and wet-mopping capability, but they differ in dock convenience, price, and ecosystem integration.

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo with AutoEmpty Dock – Best Overall

The Clean Base Automatic Dirt Disposal holds up to 60 days of debris before a bag change, cutting hands-on maintenance for pet-heavy or high-traffic homes.

Gen 3 vSLAM navigation creates and stores floor plans, enabling room-by-room scheduling and Keep-Out Zones via the iRobot Home app.

A 3-stage suction system lifts dust from carpets and hard floors, while a vibrating mopping pad delivers up to 30 ml of water per minute for light-to-moderate mopping.

Owner feedback on Amazon (5,217 ratings, 4.4 average) highlights reliable performance on mixed-floor layouts and low noise levels (reported around 68 dB on max suction).

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo (Base Model) – Still Worth It?

Without the Clean Base, you empty the 0.5-liter dustbin manually after each cycle—typically every 1–2 days in busy homes.

It keeps the same Gen 3 navigation, 3-stage suction, and vibrating mop pad, so cleaning performance matches the docked version.

If you don’t mind a quick bin empty after each run, the base model saves you the dock’s upfront cost while delivering identical navigation and mopping.

Shark AI Ultra Robot Vacuum – Alternative Powerhouse

Shark AI Ultra Robot Vacuum

Shark’s AI Ultra uses LaserSmart navigation for precise mapping and offers a self-empty base that holds up to 30 days of debris.

Its DuoClean power-fins combine a soft roller for hard floors and a bristle brush for carpets, while the integrated mopping attachment delivers up to 25 ml of water per minute.

User reviews (4,800 ratings, 4.3 average) praise strong suction on pet hair and quiet operation (≈66 dB).

Which model should you choose?

If you want the most hands-free experience and value long-term convenience, the Roomba 115X Combo with AutoEmpty Dock is the best overall pick.

If you prefer to save on the dock and don’t mind emptying a small bin after each run, the base Roomba 115X Combo still delivers top-tier navigation and mopping.

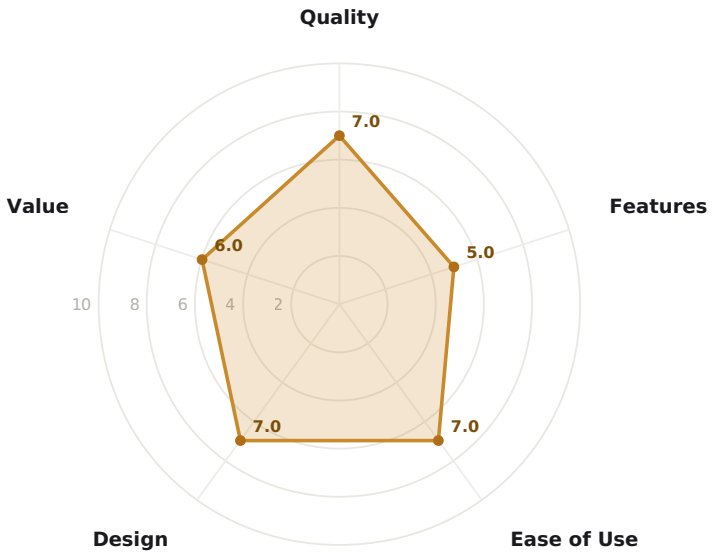

If you like Shark’s LaserSmart mapping and a slightly larger self-empty capacity, the Shark AI Ultra offers a strong alternative with comparable performance.
