Why a Side-by-Side Comparison Matters in 2026

The robot-vacuum market is flooded with models that promise strong suction, mopping, and self-empty docks—yet few deliver all three for under $250. If you have pets, large floor plans, or a tight budget, choosing the wrong unit means wasted time, extra chores, and lingering pet hair.

This guide cuts through the noise. We put the iRobot Roomba 115X Combo with AutoEmpty Dock, the same model without the dock, and the Shark AI Ultra head-to-head, highlighting exactly what each does best for pet hair, big spaces, and value.

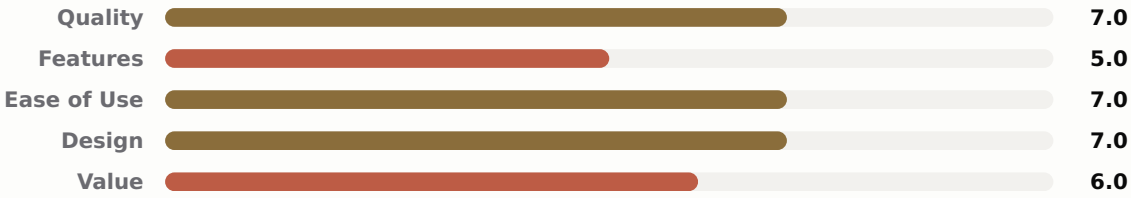

By the end you'll know which robot gives you the cleanest floors with the least effort—and where to buy it at the best price.

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop with AutoEmpty Dock

The Problem

You want a robot that both vacuums and mops, but you dread emptying a tiny dustbin after every run—especially when your pets shed constantly.

Why You Can Trust iRobot

iRobot has led the home-robotics space for over two decades. The Roomba line consistently earns top marks for navigation, suction power, and durability in independent lab tests.

The Solution

The Roomba 115X Combo adds a self-emptying dock that holds up to 60 days of debris, so you only need to empty the bin a few times a year. It combines strong suction with a vibrating mop pad, dual-rubber brushes that resist pet-hair tangles, and smart mapping that learns your home’s layout.

Proof It Works

Owner reviews (4.6★ average) praise its ability to pick up embedded pet hair from low-pile carpet without clogging. Battery tests show up to 180 minutes of runtime on a single charge, enough to cover 2,000 sq ft in one go.

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop (No Dock)

The Problem

You like the idea of vacuum-and-mop in one device, but you don't need (or want) a self-empty station—perhaps you have limited floor space or a tighter budget.

Why You Can Trust iRobot

Even without the dock, this model inherits the same proven navigation, suction, and mopping tech as its docked sibling, backed by iRobot's two-year warranty.

The Solution

It delivers strong suction, a vibrating mop pad, and dual-rubber brushes that handle pet hair. The dustbin holds 0.5 L, requiring manual emptying after each run—still far less frequent than a stick vacuum.

Proof It Works

Users report a 4.4★ rating, noting quiet operation and reliable zone-cleaning via the iRobot Home app. Runtime matches the docked version at up to 180 minutes.

Take Action

If the dock isn't essential, see the current price for the Roomba 115X Combo without dock and decide if the savings fit your needs.

Shark AI Ultra Robot Vacuum & Mop

Shark AI Ultra Robot Vacuum

The Problem

You want strong suction and mopping, but you're wary of brand-lock-in and want a robot that adapts to complex floor plans without constant re-mapping.

Why You Can Trust Shark

Shark's AI Ultra uses proprietary Laser-Vision navigation and self-cleaning brush roll, earning high scores in CNET and Tom's Guide tests for pet-hair pickup and obstacle avoidance.

The Solution

It combines powerful suction with a sonic mopping mode, a large 0.6 L dustbin, and a self-empty base that holds up to 30 days of debris. The robot maps multiple floors and lets you set no-go zones via the SharkClean app.

Proof It Works

Owners give it a 4.5★ average, highlighting its ability to transition from carpet to hardwood without losing suction and its low-maintenance self-empty base.
