2026 solidifies 4K UHD as the baseline. HDR10 and Dolby Vision have trickled down to budget models, while Mini-LED backlights appear in mid-range sets, offering OLED-like contrast without the premium price. Major smart platforms—Amazon Fire TV, Roku, Google TV—now include voice control and expansive app libraries. Prices have softened: a solid 50″ 4K Fire TV is around $160, and a 75″ version sits near $360. Premium Mini-LED bundles like LG's LX7B start under $900, delivering cinema-grade visuals.
