What to Consider Before Buying a TV

Room size & viewing distance. Measure how far you'll sit and divide that number (in inches) by 1.5 for the ideal screen size. A 10-foot (120-inch) distance works best with an 80-inch panel, but most living rooms feel comfortable with 55- to 65-inch screens.

Resolution. 4K UHD is now the baseline; 8K is still a niche, premium upgrade.

Smart platform. Fire TV, Roku, Google TV, and LG's webOS each bring a different app ecosystem and voice-assistant support. Choose the one that matches the devices you already use.

Lighting conditions. Bright rooms need higher peak brightness and anti-glare coatings. Dark home-theater spaces can prioritize contrast and deep blacks.
