Option 1: The Value All-Rounder (iRobot Roomba 115X Combo)

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop

iRobot Roomba 115X Combo Robot Vacuum & Mop with AutoEmpty Dock

Best For: Homes that want both sweeping and mopping on a budget.

The iRobot Roomba 115X Combo (Standalone) is priced at $139.99. It offers a dual-system approach, handling both vacuuming and light mopping in one go. For many readers, this is the sweet spot of value. You get the convenience of a mop without the premium price tag of high-end models.

- Pros: Dual vacuum/mop functionality; entry-level pricing.
- Cons: Manual emptying required; specific water tank and filter details are not publicly detailed in current specs.

Option 2: The Hands-Free Experience (Roomba 115X with AutoEmpty Dock)

Best For: Busy households that want the robot to handle its own waste.

If manual bin emptying is a dealbreaker, step up to the Roomba 115X Combo with AutoEmpty Dock at $199.99. This variant adds a dock that automatically suction-empties the robot's bin into a larger bag. While the exact bag capacity isn't disclosed, the added convenience of weeks of hands-free operation is a significant quality-of-life upgrade for multi-pet or high-traffic homes.

- Pros: Automated bin emptying; retains the vacuum-and-mop combo.
- Cons: Higher upfront cost; requires buying replacement bags (costs not disclosed).

Option 3: The Powerhouse (Shark AI Ultra)

Best For: Deep dry-cleaning and carpeted homes needing superior navigation.

The Shark AI Ultra is priced at $249.99. Unlike the Roomba options, this is a dry-vacuum design focused entirely on tackling dirt, dust, and debris. It leverages AI laser navigation to map your home more efficiently, ensuring fewer missed spots. If mopping isn’t a priority but deep cleaning is, this is the choice.

- Pros: High-end AI laser navigation; focused dry-suction power.
- Cons: No mopping capability; no auto-empty dock included in base price.

Which Should You Choose?

Your decision comes down to one core question: convenience or cleaning intensity?

1. Choose the $139.99 Roomba 115X if you want a simple, budget-friendly solution that sweeps and lightly mops your hard floors.
2. Choose the $199.99 Roomba 115X + Dock if you hate emptying dustbins and want a set-and-forget solution for up to 60 days (typically, though bag specs vary).
3. Choose the $249.99 Shark AI Ultra if you have thick carpets, pets, or simply prefer a robot that focuses 100% on vacuuming without the complexity of water tanks.

Neither is objectively "better"—they solve different problems. Identify your biggest pain point, and the right fit will become clear.
